HER ACCOUNT DOCTORED.

This Girl Kept an Expense Book and Lost a Husband.

There is a North Side girl who has a laudable ambition to know just where her money goes. She has tried two or three times to keep mental track of her expenditures, but this always proved unsatisfactory At last she decided that she must keep an exact and minute account of everything she spent She got herself a small book with rulings and margins and a pliable cover and set to work in earnest She put down religiously everything she spent, the exact amount, the article and the date. She never allowed the slightest matter to go till there was a chance of her forgetting it When she made any purchases down town, she went over the list carefully in the car on her way home and put the amounts on the outside of a package In this way she succeeded in keeping a very satisfactory record of her expenditures.

There was only one drawback. She was forever leaving the book around. Of course there are a great many people who are only too glad to read such things The servant would see it The man who came to tune the piano might easily have done it if he liked, and she did not know whether he had or not A neighbor had once picked it up on the lawn in front of the house and brought it in, but what was worse than all the rest was the fact that a couple of girl friends perused it one day. There were some things which she had talked a good deal about that she got for downright bargains In fact, after this catastrophe everything on her record seemed to be shamefully cheap However, she was unwilling to give up the bookkeeping, and if she didn't carry a notebook around with her she would certainly forget something, so she bethought herself of another expedient. She determined for the purpose of mystification to multiply everything she put down by ten—that is, to add a cipher to each entry In this way she could always tell that every item really cost one-tenth of what appeared on the book After this she didn't care who saw it

There is a lot at the side of her father's house and a rustic seat. One day she left the book on this seat In the evening the young man who had about concluded to ask her hand in marriage came along He noticed the book, picked it up and looked through it carelessly. He was amazed. She had always claimed to be such a prudent girl, and he had believed she was. Still there he saw:

Candy	$3 00	Soda water	$2 00
Gloves	11 00	Fan	22 00
Flowers	4 00	Hatpin	7 00
Car fare	1 00	Novels	12 00
Gum	50	Photographs	15 00

He was getting a fairly good salary, but he felt wholly unequal to the task of supporting a girl with tastes like that In order to put himself out of any possibility of such a thing he married soon afterward a girl on the West Side who never kept any accounts.—Chicago Tribune.

Worked the Officers.

A sailmaker's mate in the navy who wanted to get out of the service to go into business with some money he had fallen heir to made a success of the monomania dodge. It is the business of a man-of-war sailmaker's mate to sew up members of the crew who die at sea in hammocks preparatory to their being cast over the side. This sailmaker's mate appeared on deck one day with a queer look in his eye and announced to his shipmates forward that he was dead and that he was going to prepare himself for burial in the deep. Some of the men watched him as he went to the sailmaker's storeroom and began to sew himself up in a new hammock. When he had got the job about half finished, the men informed the officer of the deck of the case, and the sailmaker's mate was put under observation in double irons When he was released from the brig, still under observation, but apparently not aware of the espionage, he went direct to the storeroom, got another hammock and began to enshroud himself again The skipper of the ship reduced him to the rate of seaman for this, for the purpose of keeping the man away from the sailmaker's storeroom, thinking that if he was removed from the sight of the stored up hammocks his mania might leave him. The night of the day he lost his rate the ex-sailmaker's mate broke into the storeroom where the new hammocks were kept and sewed himself up for burial again Then the fleet surgeons held a survey on him, and he got his discharge. He started a tobacco store for sailors near one of the navy yards, and for some time he made it a practice to stand in the doorway of his shop and grin when any of the board of surgeons who had pronounced him insane passed by, as they were compelled to do on their way to and from the navy yard.—New York Sun.

A Bee Was Kept.

A girl from town is staying with some country cousins who live at a farm On the night of her arrival she finds, to her mortification, that she is ignorant of all sorts of things connected with farm life which to her country cousins are matters of everyday knowledge She fancies they seem amused at her ignorance

At breakfast the following morning she sees on the table a dish of fine honey, whereupon she thinks she has found an opportunity of retrieving her humiliating experience of the night before and of showing her country cousins that she knows something of country life after all. So, looking at the dish of honey, she says carelessly:

"Ah, I see you keep a bee."—Pearson's Weekly

Doesn't Know It All.

"What do you study at school, my little man?"

"I am studying the history of France, sir."

"Indeed. What can you tell me about Charlemagne?"

"Oh, sir, we have only got as far as Adam and Eve." Polichinelle.

In all the wide range of human sorrow there is no more pitiful tragedy than that of the death of a mother at childbirth. It cuts off a life just at the moment when it has achieved its grandest duty and at the very outset of its greatest happiness. It leaves a helpless, motherless babe to the care of strangers who have no blood interest in its welfare. Kind as a Sister of Charity or a nurse may be, they cannot replace the loving ministrations of a mother. This ever recurring tragedy could be avoided if women would but learn the vital importance of caring for the health and vigor of the delicate organs that bear the burdens of maternity. The woman who neglects weakness and disease of these organs is unfitted for motherhood and it only holds out to her the certainty of agonizing pain and possible death.

A sure, safe, and speedy cure for all weakness and disease of the organs distinctly feminine is found in Dr Pierce's Favorite Prescription It prepares for motherhood by making these organs strong, healthy and elastic. If taken during the period preceding motherhood it banishes the usual discomforts It insures a healthy baby and makes its advent easy, almost painless It provides ample nourishment for the newcomer, and shortens the mother's period of illness and debility. It is the best of all known medicines for women and over 90,000 of them have said so over their signatures If you want to know more of it write to its discoverer, Dr. R. V. Pierce, chief consulting physician to the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, at Buffalo, N. Y.

A good, practical home medical work is the best friend and adviser a young wife can have. Dr Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser is such a book. It contains 1008 pages and 300 illustrations Several chapters are devoted to the reproductive physiology of women and facts that every wife and mother should know Over a million women possess copies of it A new edition is ready and will be given away absolutely FREE. If you want a paper-covered copy send 21 one-cent stamps, to cover the cost of mailing only, to the World's Dispensary Medical Association, Buffalo, N Y Send 31 stamps for cloth-bound copy.

NOVEMBER EXPORTS.

The Bureau of Statistics of the Treasury Department has issued a statement of the principal articles of export for the month of November. The total value of these exports was $82,323,689, an increase over October of more than $5,000,000 and of $6,000,000 over October, 1896. The increase over November, 1895, is $22,000,000, and over November, 1894, $24,000,000. The increase is due to large exports of corn, oats, rye and wheat.

The abundant wheat crop in the United States this year and the failure of grain crops in the principal grain growing countries of the old world has been a boon to the farmers and transportation companies of the country. It has enabled the farmers of Kansas, Nebraska, the Dakotas and other grain growing States east of the Rocky Mountains, and of California, Oregon, Washington and to a less extent in Nevada, to reduce their indebtedness by paying off notes, mortgages and other obligations, and given an impetus to many other industries by getting more money in circulation. Though the prices received by the farmers were not as high as in 1891, they were much better than at any previous time for five or six years past. The great grain crop and the foreign demand for the grain left the balance of trade for the year largely in favor of the United States and forced Europe to send coin or negotiable securities across the Atlantic to pay for it. As the gold imports are not large, bonds, stocks and marketable commodities must have been sent to the United States during the year to balance the account. Cotton, which next to breadstuffs is the greatest article of export, has been unusually low this year and the cotton producing States did not share in the prosperity caused by the heavy wheat crop in the Mississippi Valley and on the Pacific coast.

REPRESENTATIVE JOHNSON of North Dakota proposes to settle the troublesome Behring Sea question by exterminating the seals, which, he says, cost the Government hundreds of thousands of dollars without deriving a dollar's worth of benefit from the expenditure. This is on a par with a local statesman's method of settling the Indian question. Said he, in a fine burst of eloquence, "teach the Indians the way to make fire water and let nature take its course."

IT is believed that the proposition to annex the Hawaiian islands to the United States is losing ground daily. Americans, who have visited the islands recently, say there are not 1,200 male Americans over the age of twenty-one years on the islands and the Government is maintained by bayonets.

THE ASYLUM CONTROVERSY.

Dr. Bergstein's Reply to Mr. Wood's Charges.

The following has been received and filed at the office of the Clerk of the Board of Commissioners for the Indigent Insane:

RENO, Nev., December 11, 1897.

To the Honorable, the Board of Commissioners for the care of the Indigent Insane, Carson City, Nevada:—GENTLEMEN—In reply to the charges made by H. Wood, I deny.

1st. That certain employes or any employe of said Hospital acting under my specific orders threw into the Truckee river or into ditches or flumes debouching into said river the brains of certain deceased persons, patients in said Hospital at the time of their demise, upon whose remains I had made autopsies.

2d. I deny that the remains of S. W. Thomas were kept in the morgue at the Hospital awaiting burial, until the said remains were in an advanced state of decomposition, or until the odor was so offensive that it was difficult for the employes of said Hospital to properly handle said remains; and I assert that said remains were buried within thirty-six hours after the death of said S. W. Thomas.

And I further say that to H. Wood, the Supervisor, was assigned the burial of the dead and if there was any neglect of duty it was his.

In conclusion, having fully denied the charges of said Henry Wood, I respectfully ask the Board, if they deem the charges worthy of investigation, to fix as early a day as practicable for a hearing upon said charges.

I respectfully ask the Board that said H. Wood be required to make his first charge more specific by giving the names of the employes or employe to whom the alleged orders were given, or to furnish me the names of the witnesses or witness by whom he proposes to substantiate his charges, that I may be better prepared to procure witnesses by whom said charges may be refuted, that time and unnecessary contingencies may be avoided.

Respectfully submitted,
H. BERGSTEIN,
Superintendent Nevada Hospital for Mental Diseases.

A regiment of U. S. infantry and wagon train will pass through Carson on their way to New York City in a month or two. They have written on making inquiries about the roads bridges and many other things. Probably in all there will be about eight undred men.

Washe County's Delinquency.

Washoe's delinquent list will foot up $6,596 04 for this year. Of this amount the V. & T. R. R. represents $4,926 90, leaving a balance of $1,669 14, which includes double assessments, deductions and polls, as well as a few who did not show up at the Captain's office.

THE Ogden Standard says that within the next thirty days there will be filed in the Second District Court in Ogden some twenty-five or thirty suits against the Union Pacific, Southern Pacific and Oregon Short Line railroads, claiming the damages as the result of the alleged black-listing of striking or other employes.

Death of Mother McKinley.

President McKinley's mother died at 2:30 o'clock Sunday morning. The President and all the members of the family were at the bedside of the sufferer when she passed away. Mrs. McKinley was born at New Lisbon, Ohio, in the year 1809, and lived in that State all her life. Mrs. John A. Logan in a touching tribute reviews the life of the deceased, her ambitions for her son, her joy as he mounted the ladder of fame from the time he entered college to a Major in the war, as Governor of Ohio and last as President of the United States and in her last moments on earth, although unable to speak, showed by the expression in her eyes and by such faint signs as she was able to make that her happiness was complete at having her beloved son near her as she quietly passed to the great beyond.

A Purse Lost.

A black purse containing a five-dollar gold piece and a small diamond shirt stud was lost yesterday afternoon. A reasonable reward will be paid for its return to MRS. LAKE'S book store.

PROBABLY A DOUBLE MURDER.

One Man Stabbed Another Nearly Brained and a Third Seriously Wounded.

E. Marra of Beckwith arrived last evening and reported that the town of Vinton in Sierra Valley, three miles west of Beckwith Pass, was the scene of a terrible affray at about three o'clock, yesterday morning in which Tony Lompy, the proprietor of the Vinton Hotel, was nearly brained, his bar keeper, whose name could not be learned, probably fatally stabbed and a third person who was sitting in the bar-room seriously wounded by a stray bullet.

The particulars are meagre and are given as reported. Lou Jones, a well known young man of Sierra Valley, with a couple of companions entered the saloon of Lompy and demanded the loan of $5, Lompy declined to lend the money and then Jones told the bar-keeper to set up the drinks. The latter told him that he had enough liquor already and to go away and sober up. This displeased Jones and his associates and words followed and Jones assaulted the bar-tender drawing a knife and stabbing him several times. Mr. Lompy interfered and put Jones out of the house, but he returned in a moment armed with a wagon spoke with which he struck Mr. Lompy across the head splitting his skull almost in twain. At this moment a friend of the two men who were sorely wounded and lying on the floor, rushed in at a side door and attempted to shoot Jones, but in his excitement fired wildly and the ball struck a man who was sitting in the rear of the saloon, causing a serious wound.

Jones, after seeing what he had done, rushed out and mounted his horse and escaped. Messengers were dispatched to Beckwith for physicians and officers. The physicians have no hope of saving Lompy as his skull is terribly crushed and the bar-keeper is in a dangerous condition and not expected to live. Jones was last seen at Chat and it is believed that he came into Reno on last evening's N-C-O, but up to a late hour the officers had not seen him.

Mr. Lompy is a respected citizen of Sierra Valley, and has a wife and four children. The people at Vinton and vicinity are terribly enraged and if Jones is apprehended it will probably go hard with him.

THE CORN COLONY.

Wymore, the Original Owner of the Land, Joins the Colonists.

This fall M. Cohn and T. R. Hofer of Carson purchased a tract of land in Smith Valley, Lyon county, of Samuel Wymore, and made arrangements to colonize it. Nineteen families, numbering, over sixty persons, were brought into the State by the promoters of the scheme and several more families are to arrive. The colonists are well pleased with the location and climate and have set to work to build homes and cultivate the land. The track comprised 5,200 acres nearly all of which is arable land and well adapted for grain, alfalfa and fruit. There is abundance of water for irrigation purposes, one ditch having a capacity of 4,400 inches, and a half interest in a ditch that carries 800 inches of water.

Mr. Wymore is so favorably impressed with the colonization scheme that he has purchased the interests of Messrs. Cohn and Hofer in the land and has joined the colonists. They will incorporate and he will take a large share of the stock. He has capital and he will furnish the means to reclaim the land and enlarge the irrigating ditches. He has gone to San Francisco with three of the leading colonists to make all arrangements necessary for promoting the interests of the colony.

As an evidence of the effect of the colony locally it is stated that the public school, at Wellington, was increased from four pupils to thirty in a day. The old school house was too small to accommodate the increase and new and more commodious quarters had to be rented. This is an indication of what might be done to increase the population and taxable property of Nevada, if only, in the language of Mrs. Click, "people should make an effort."

We have the land and the water and both should be brought together. Anybody having from one thousand to twenty thousand acres of land for which water for irrigation purposes can be procured at a reasonable expense should communicate with M. Cohn of Carson who is devoting time and money to the colonization business and says he can get a thousand colonists in Nevada within a year if he can find desirable locations for them.

"Tennessee's Pardner."

Manager Aiston, who was so long identified with the "Friends" production, has hit upon a good thing in "Tennessee's Pardner." Under his management it was one of last season's prominent successes. This play has all the element of popular merit and commercial value. It is melodramatic enough to catch the gallery and yet never so ridiculous in theatrics as to offend the more particular observer. It is rich in comedy and has a frequently recurring vein of pathos, which is never allowed to continue long enough to make it unwelcome. The company is decidedly above the average, and includes such well known people as Esther Williams, Jane Corcoran, Annie Mortimer, James M. Brophy, Percy Plunkett, O. H. Barr, Frank M. Kelly, Walter Ryder, Marion Bohannon and others of equal note. The attraction comes here with the critical endorsement of the press of San Francisco and Los Angeles, and its presentation here will be identical with that given in those cities.

A CHRISTMAS STORY.

Neither Old or Young Should Be Forgotten.

The Places Where One May Find Useful and Pretty Things.

At the near approach of the Christmas Tide, old and young are more or less affected with the various emotions of expectancy, wonderment, happiness disappointment and sadness, brought about to a great extent by the conditions or situations of life. The youngster looks forward to Christmas with pleasurable anticipation, regardless of the disappointment that may follow in not being remembered and perhaps even denied a good dinner. Young men and women study and plan for loved ones but are unable to carry out their dearest hopes, and for a brief period a cloud darkens the sunshine of their lives. Those of mature age look back on the years that have flown and recall memories that bring joy and sadness to their hearts, yet in order to brush aside a tear or stifle a sigh or check an involuntary smile caused by sweet remembrance, will talk of the practical things of life and argue that Christmas is only for the young. But as the day draws near each face begins to beam and the feeling of peace on earth, good will to men, is silently expressed, for every person old or young, rich or poor, are in a measure happy in being allowed to look at the pretty things in the shop windows, and if nothing more feast their eyes and build fanciful castles until their hearts beat faster, hopes grow higher and for a brief period at least feel that it is all true, and, when their thoughts again return to the ordinary matters of life, they pass quickly on to another window and other objects drive away the heart pain or feeling of disappointment of a moment before. Day after day this goes on with every one, the excitement growing more intense as the all important day approaches and the climax is a cyclone of "Oh's" and "Ah's," "How Pretty," "Just What I Wanted," or perhaps disappointment, sadness or tears, the latter soon to be smiles in the joy of others.

A communication was read from Mr. Frank Bell protesting against being compelled to lay a sidewalk in front of his residence on Sierra St. On motion of Mr. Ryland further action on the matter was indefinitely postponed.

A communication from the Riverside Mill company, notifying the Council to discontinue the use of the Mill Ditch on Virginia or any other street in the city of Reno for any purpose whatever, was read and filed and the Board instructed the clerk to notify the Mill Company, that the city claimed the right to use the ditch for sewer purposes, the same having been in use more or less for that purpose for five years or over.

B. C. Shearer, auditor, reported that he had transferred $1,943 57 to the city funds, taxes collected to Dec. 4. and a total amount including a former report of $4609.

A petition from property owners at the corners of Third and Lake Streets asking that a stone crossing be laid was postponed for action until next meeting.

Mr. West's claim for damages was also laid over until the City Attorney could advise the Board on the matter. J. F. Aitken appeared before the Board and again asked that he be paid for street sprinkling. It was agreed that Mr. Aitken make out his bill in proper form and present it for consideration.

Chairman Osborn stated that Professor Thurtell had asked if the bicycle ordnance relating to riding wheels on the sidewalks could not be modified so as to permit wheelmen to ride on the sidewalks providing the speed was not over five miles an hour. No action was taken.

Councilman Noyes informed the Board that under a stipulation the case relating to the issuance of bonds was to have been argued in the Supreme Court on next Thursday, but the Court had adjourned until the January term.

The monthly bills were then taken up and ordered paid.

Chinese Money.

A kind of Chinese money which is largely manufactured and sold is worthy of mention, although the traveler need not trouble himself with it except as a curiosity. This is prepared for the special purpose of burning at the graves of deceased relatives as an offering to the dead. The denizens of the other world are supposed to require and to be capable of receiving money in this way, but the Chinaman is far too practical a person to part in such a fashion with the currency of the empire. Instead he buys for a few cash a large supply of silvered and gilded pieces of paper or of imitation coins blocked out of ...

Although these have no purchasing power on earth, they are ... to count for much in the transactions of the spirit world. By this practice one is reminded of an old story of a miser who left his belongings to his son on condition that a certain sum of money should be buried in the coffin with him. The son was, however, a chip of the old block and carried out his father's wishes by placing in the coffin a crossed check for the required amount, assured that it had little chance of being presented at his banker's.—Chambers' Journal

HOW TO ESCAPE COLDS.

Not by Coddling, but by Becoming Able to Endure Necessary Exposure.

It is not always sufficient to point out a danger. It is often of even greater importance to show how the danger may be averted. Most people properly recognize a cold as avoidable and think they are greatly to be commended for the prudence they exercise in protecting themselves, but if they did but know it they are really doing all they can to make themselves susceptible to colds by weakening their resisting powers.

A German professor once wrote a long treatise, with a learned title, on how to avoid catching cold. After tracing the history of colds from the earliest ages, studying their causes and symptoms and cataloguing the remedies which have been used by the most eminent physicians of all times he concluded with a short chapter on prevention.

His plan was to inure the back of the neck to drafts by having some one direct a current of air upon it from a bellows three times a day

The writer had the correct idea, although its practical application was clumsy and he was a long time in reaching it. The best and only way to escape colds is to meet the causes that produce them and not to run from them.

Let the body be hardened by a cold sponge bath or even a cold plunge, followed by brisk rubbing with a "scratchy" towel, every morning Let the clothing be adapted to the season, though always as light as possible, but keep the neck uncovered—no turned up coat collar, no muffler, no boa. Never let the temperature in the house rise above 70 degrees in the winter Air every room systematically every day, no matter what the outdoor temperature may be. Always have fresh air in the bedroom. There is nothing poisonous in "night air," popular belief to the contrary notwithstanding.

In a word, don't be always afraid of catching cold, don't coddle, but meet cold and wet and changes of temperature like a man, or rather like a horse, and you will then run a better chance of being as strong as a horse

Of course you must strengthen your armor where it is weak, but if you recognize in yourself a weak place, a "cold spot," don't cover it up with more clothes, but toughen it and toughen your entire body until it is one homogeneous resistant whole —Youth's Companion

The Cooking of Game Birds.

Most game birds and animals, because of a life of ceaseless activity, do not take on fat, and such should be larded or cooked with slices of bacon or salt pork placed on them Do not serve birds with heads on and undrawn, as is quite generally practiced, the latter point being a relic of savagery, the former an offense to sensitive nerves It is pleasanter to enjoy a bit of choice flesh without being so forcibly reminded that we are eating dead birds This is not the only instance where realism is in artistic.—Woman's Home Companion

F. B PORTER, Clerk.

"Oh George! I don't know what to do, I'm sure. Pa says he will never consent to my marrying a man as extravagant as you are. He says you never chew anything but that expensive Piper Heidsieck Tobacco."

"Expensive? Why, the old man's behind the times. The size of the plug has been increased 40 per cent. Piper Heidsieck is really the cheapest tobacco on the market."

The new five-cent piece of

PIPER HEIDSIECK PLUG TOBACCO

(CHAMPAGNE FLAVOR)

besides being 40 per cent larger than the old five-cent piece,

It is the best tobacco ever offered at any price, and the largest plug of choice tobacco ever offered for five cents.
